BLOW WITH HAMMER FATAL TO HENRY TOWN

William Wright Now Faces Charge of Murder.

Murder is the charge now registered against William Wright, a negro, who has been under arrest for the past week as the self-confessed assailant of Henry Town, a carpenter. Early this morning Town died at the Sibley Hospital from the effects of a hammer blow inflicted by the negro in a fight at the Trumbull Street pumping station on June 15. The assault on Town was the outcome of a trivial dispute. Both men were employed at the pumping station, which is now in the course of erection. The negro had been working near an elevator shaft when a piece of wood or metal fell near him or possibly struck him on the head. He accused Town of deliberately throwing things at him and a wrangle followed. After a few words between them Wright seized a hammer and struck Town on the head and made his escape. He left the city, but was captured last Thursday near Kensington, Md. Wright's uncle was instrumental in turning Wright over to the police. Town was removed to the Sibley hospital after the assault and although he showed improvement from day to day for the first week, he grew worse Wednesday and yesterday, and last night the physicians at the institution stated that he was beyond recovery. It is understood that Wright will make a plea of self-defense, but it is said that numerous witnesses who were near at hand when Town was struck will contradict that.

FORMER JOURNALIST DIES ON STATEN ISLAND

Samuel T. Williams, Once With "National Intelligencer" and "Globe."

A dispatch from Clifton, Staten Island, says Samuel Thompson Williams, at one time associated with the "National Intelligencer" of Washington, died yesterday in Clifton from complicated diseases. Mr. Williams was born in Baltimore in 1839, and practiced law there for some years, being the partner of the father of Rear Admiral Schley. Mr. Williams abandoned law for newspaper work and became associated with the "National Intelligencer," and latter with the "Congressional Globe," of which he became city editor.

President Andrew Johnson appointed him United States consul at Hamburg, Germany. Later under President Garfield he was charge d'affaires at Brazil. Mr. Williams had been married twice. His first wife was Caroline Rivers, daughter of the "Globe's" owner. After the death of his first wife, which occurred eight years ago, Mr. Williams married Charlotte Dunston, of Staten Island, who is still living. Mr. Williams will be buried in Rock Creek Cemetery.

M'KAY'S DIVORCED WIFE FILES CAVEAT TO WILL

A caveat was filed in the Probate Court yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Jennie Pope McKay, the divorced wife of the late Nathaniel McKay, objecting to the probate of the latter's will. This is in answer to the petition filed recently by Admiral Philip Hichborn, as executor, asking that the will be probated, and giving Washington as the legal residence of the testator.

The disposition of the estate depends upon the decision of the court as to the residence of Colonel McKay. If the court holds that the residence of the deceased was Washington, then the divorce from Mrs. Jennie McKay, secured in the Oklahoma courts, is null, as is also his marriage to Mrs. Mabel Grace McKay. In this event the court would further hold that the transfer of certain real estate by Colonel McKay to his second wife was illegal. Mrs. Jennie McKay can then reject the will in dispute which does not make any provision for her, and accept her one-third share by law. In addition to the two wives the children of Colonel McKay make a third party to the controversy. The matter will come up in preliminary hearing this morning in Probate Court.

HARRIGAN DENIES VIOLATION OF LAW

Objects to Criticism of District Commissioners.

John J. Harrigan is displeased with the activity of the District Commissioners in investigating the transaction through which, he alleges, A. J. Sullivan, Assistant Fire Chief, became indebted to him for $20.

Although Harrigan and his attorney, Harry A. Hegarty, now refuse to make any statement concerning the use to which the $20 in dispute was put, they deny that there was anything in Harrigan's dealings with Sullivan, which could be considered a violation of the District laws against selling, or offering to sell, political influence for the advancement of persons in the employ of the District.

Sullivan maintains Harrigan offered to have him advanced to the head of the Fire Department on the payment of $350. Corporation Counsel Duvall is investigating Harrigan's proposition to Sullivan, and will make a report to the Commissioners as soon as Justice Patne, of Georgetown, decided whether the Assistant Fire Chief is indebted to Harrigan.

The decision in the case of Benjamin G. Hill, convicted in Criminal Court No. 1, of murder in the first degree, was affirmed by the Court of Appeals in an opinion handed down by Chief Justice Alvey yesterday.

Hill shot his wife, Carrie T. Hill, November 8 last, and she died a few days later. He was convicted and sentenced to be hanged July 24 next.

The exceptions were of a technical character and were not sustained.
